

- a) An organization is normally said to comprise of various departments and units. Describe any five details specifying the characteristics of each.
- b) Differentiate between the term data flow diagram and decision tree in the context of financial systems.
- c) Differentiate between revenue transaction life cycle and operating cycle describing the steps in each.
- d) Describe any 5 internal controls that an organization should have in place to ensure the accuracy of financial processes.
- e) Define the following terminology as they relate to statistics and give an example of each.

iv. Measures of variance
v. ERR
vi. OLAP

range, std deviation

- f) Differentiate between the terms statistical software and data management software. Give any four examples of each type respectively.